BEAVER STADIUM

Home of the Nittany Lions

Penn State, which played its home games from 1909 through 1959 in 30,000-capacity Beaver Field on center campus, moved into the present all-steel stadium in 1960. The original capacity of Beaver Stadium was 46,284. An additional 2,060 seats, added in 1969, pushed the total seating to 48,344. The addition of 9,194 seats in 1972 brought the capacity to 57,538. New end zone bleachers in 1974 and 1976 boosted the capacity to 60,203.

Beaver Stadium is a unique combination of something old and something new. The old stadium was dismantled after the 1959 season and moved in 700 pieces a mile to the new east campus location. It was reassembled beneath the new superstructure — and now towers 80 rows high on the west side and 90 rows high on the east side from goal line to goal line. The closed end of the horseshoe is 40 rows high.

Steel men say Beaver Stadium is the largest all-steel stadium in the country and probably in the world. There are 55,243 permanent seats (43,989 between the goal lines) and room for 4,960 temporary bleacher seats in the open end of the horseshoe. The stadium is named for General James A. Beaver, a former Pennsylvania governor who served for many years as president of the Penn State Board of Trustees.

PENN STATE HOME GAMES SOLD OUT

The Penn State athletic ticket office sold its final 1976 football ticket on June 14. On that date, all six home games were official sellouts.

Season ticket sales ended June 1 after the purchase of 35,000 season tickets, an increase of more than 10,000 over 1975. Individual game tickets were on sale the next two weeks for the 60,203-capacity Beaver Stadium.

Penn State reserves 18,600 tickets for students for each home game except All-University Day (North Carolina State) when the addition of commonwealth campus students boosts the student ticket total to 22,000.

The Nittany Lions set a new attendance record at Beaver Stadium last fall, averaging 60,025 for five games. The total attendance record in one season is 345,140, set in 1973 with six home games.

The Season Outlook

Penn State football fans have been treated to some exciting moments in Joe Paterno's 10 years as head coach.

Included in Paterno's record of 94 wins, 18 losses and a tie are three perfect seasons, eight bowl appearances and eight Top Ten rankings.

But few seasons have produced the advance excitement that permeates the Nittany Valley as Paterno prepares his troops for the 1976 campaign. All of Penn State's games in 60,203-seat Beaver Stadium were sold out before the middle of June.

There appear to be three major reasons for the anticipation surrounding the 1976 Penn State team: an interesting and challenging schedule, a wide-open style of play and the apparent ability of many of the young Lions.

Paterno sensed the enthusiasm as he reflected on his team's spring practice:

"We had a good spring. The squad has a fine attitude and good leadership; but this group may be even younger than last year's team. We should have more explosiveness because there is outstanding potential at the skill positions, but it is just potential at this point. Very few people we are talking about have done anything in a game as yet."

The young Lions will have to mature in a hurry to face a schedule that includes four teams that went to bowls last year and a group of traditional rivals for whom Penn State is "The Game" on the schedule.

"We have a very difficult schedule from beginning to end," Paterno notes. "We must develop some poise and stay healthy in preseason so we can handle the front end of the schedule."

The Lions open the season on Sept. 18 against perennial Pac-8 power Stanford, followed by Ohio State, Iowa, Kentucky, Army, Syracuse, West Virginia, Temple, North Carolina State, Miami and Pittsburgh.

Depth Major Concern

Depth appears to be Paterno's major concern as the Lions prepare for that schedule.

"We should be better offensively if we can keep our offensive linemen healthy until we develop some depth," the Lion coach says. "Defensively, we should have a fine number one unit, if we can get back to some hard-nosed football."

Last year's team won primarily because of strong defense and the outstanding kicking of Chris Bahr, but the offense showed definite improvement during the spring drills.

The quarterbacking appears solid. John Andress, the starter all last season, returns along with a pair of talented sophomores in Chuck Fusina and Doug Hostetler.

The running back situation also appears to be in good hands with six of last year's top seven rushers returning and some promising freshmen.

Duane Taylor, who has gained over 1,000 yards in his career at Penn State, shared the fullback job with Larry Suhey last year. Paterno has moved Taylor to tailback, where he is listed even with clutch runner Steve Geise on the depth chart compiled at the end of spring practice.

Backing up Geise and Taylor are senior Rusty Boyle, out last year with a shoulder injury, and sophomores Rich Milot and Kevin Thrower. Multi-talented Rich Mauti and possibly some of the incoming freshmen also may figure in the tailback picture.

Taylor's move to tailback leaves Suhey as the number one fullback, but he could be pressed for the job by sophomore Bob Torrey and freshman Anthony Alguero and possibly Boyle.

The wide receivers have as much potential as any group in recent years. Sophomore Scott Fitzkee had an outstanding spring at split end and there appears to be good depth behind him, including the versatile Mauti. The flankers include junior Jimmy Cefalo, back at full speed after being hampered all of last year by injuries; sophomore Tom Donovan, who had an excellent freshman season; and senior Bruce Ellis.

Tight end also appears solid with veterans Dave Stutts and Mick Shuler being joined by sophomores Ron LaPointe and Andy Onkotz.

The offensive line could be a concern. There are four lettermen—Brad Benson, Ron Argenta, Keith Dorney and Greg Kubas—listed on the tentative first unit; but Dave Shukri is the only other experienced offensive lineman on the entire roster.

Youthful Defense

Paterno could start a letterman at every position on defense, but the experience level isn't really that high. Only four seniors were listed on the first unit defense at the end of spring drills.

The depth chart shows Ron Crosby (senior) and Bill Banks (junior) at end; Tony Petruccio (sophomore) and George Reihner (senior) at tackle; Kurt Allerman (senior), Ron Hostetler (junior), Tom DePaso (junior) and either Randy Sidler (junior) or Steve Wanamaker (junior) at linebacker; Neil Hutton (junior), Gary Petercuskie (junior) and either Bill Crummy (sophomore) or Bernard Robinson (senior) in the secondary.

All of the players listed on the tentative first unit defense are lettermen except Crummy; but Allerman, Crosby, Hostetler and Petercuskie are the only returning starters.

Allerman, Hostetler and Petercuskie should rank among the top contenders for All-America honors this year.

Two position switches Paterno made in spring practice to shore up the defense appear to have worked out well. Reihner was moved from offensive tackle to defensive tackle and Hutton, who missed all of last season with a shoulder injury, has been moved from tailback to defensive halfback.

There appear to be several capable punters on the squad to handle that part of Bahr's duties; but Paterno must find a place-kicker during the preseason practice.

There is no shortage of leadership on this year's team if the squad's voting for captains is any indication. The team elected three defensive captains—Allerman, Crosby and Reihner—and two offensive captains—Andress and Benson.

"Overall, this is a team that should be quicker in the 'open' positions—the secondary, wide receiver and running back—but we may not be quite as strong at the 'closed' spots—offensive line, defensive line and linebacker," Paterno says.

It is that potential speed and quickness that has Penn State fans looking forward to the 1976 season with interest and excitement.

LEGEND OF THE NITTANY LION

Penn State's athletic symbol, chosen by the student body in 1906, is a mountain lion once said to have roamed the central Pennsylvania mountains. Because Penn State is located in the Nittany Valley at the foot of Mt. Nittany, the lion was designated as a Nittany Lion. Nittany evolved from the word Nita-Nee, which was the favorite cognomen for Indian maidens. Legend tells us that one Nita-Nee, the daughter of Chief O-Ko-Cho who lived near the mouth of Penn's Cave, fell in love with a trader named Malachi Boyer. For this, Boyer was imprisoned and forced to die in Penn's Cave. The tearful maiden and her lost lover became legend and her name now graces the stately mountain and the athletic teams of Penn State.

1975 Season in Review

PENN STATE 26, TEMPLE 25

Woody Petchel's 66-yard punt return with four minutes to play lifted Penn State to a victory over Temple at Franklin Field. The Owls drove 77 yards in 13 plays to take a 23-18 lead with 7:47 left to play. Temple was forced to punt on its next possession and Petchel's run down the right sideline set up Duane Taylor's three-yard run and John Andress' pass to Mick Shuler for a two-point conversion. Andress took a deliberate safety to preserve the victory with 11 seconds left in the game. Chris Bahr's two field goals, including a school-record 55-yard kick, and Rich Mauti's 100-yard kickoff return kept the Lions in the game.

PENN STATE 34, STANFORD 14

Flanker Tom Donovan became the first freshman in Penn State history to gain 100 yards rushing in a game — and he did it in front of the largest crowd (61,325) in Beaver Stadium history. Donovan finished with 113 yards in 10 carries, including a 61-yard touchdown dash in the second quarter. Penn State rushed for 330 yards and broke the game open in the third quarter. The Lions' defense came up with six turnovers.

OHIO STATE 17, PENN STATE 9

Ohio State held the Lions without a touchdown and converted six straight third-down plays in the fourth quarter on a time-consuming touchdown march to hand Penn State its first loss of the season. Chris Bahr did all the Lions' scoring, kicking three field goals and narrowly missing a 57-yarder into the wind which would have given Penn State a 12-10 lead in the third quarter. Duane Taylor ran for 113 yards for the Lions, but Ohio State backs Archie Griffin and Pete Johnson combined for 240 yards.

PENN STATE 30, IOWA 10

John Andress passed for 195 yards, including tosses of 75 yards to Dick Barvinchak and 70 to Rich Mauti, to break open the Lions' second straight game with a Big Ten opponent. The Lions had a balanced offense, gaining 194 yards on the ground and 193 through the air. Nick Quartaro's 50-yard field goal in the first quarter gave the Hawkeyes the early lead. The game was still up for grabs with 10 minutes remaining when Andress and Mauti hooked up on the 70-yard touchdown. Two plays later, Iowa fumbled and the Lions converted the turnover into Larry Suhey's one-yard touchdown run. Iowa did not complete a pass in the game.

PENN STATE 10, KENTUCKY 3

Penn State's defense held Kentucky without a touchdown and the Lion offense scored 10 points in the second quarter for a Homecoming victory before a capacity crowd. Linebacker Greg Buttle had 14 tackles and defensive tackle John Quinn 13 as Penn State gave up 295 yards total offense, but kept the Wildcats out of the end zone and away from an upset. Penn State again turned to Chris Bahr, who kicked a 29-yard field goal and averaged 44 yards on four punts.

Woody Petchel's 120 yards rushing and Chris Bahr's 13 points gave Penn State a stunning victory over previously-unbeaten West Virginia. The Lion offense dominated the game with 96 plays, 435 yards total offense and 40:58 time of possession. West Virginia didn't get a first down on its first three possessions and lost the ball on fumbles on three straight series as the Lions jumped to a 20-0 halftime lead. Bahr's three field goals gave him a school-record 12 for the season and helped him set a Penn State record for career kicking points (143).

PENN STATE 19, SYRACUSE 7

Chris Bahr's foot and presence defeated Syracuse in front of the smallest crowd (28,153) to watch Penn State in 1975. The soccer-style kicker put six points on the scoreboard in the first quarter with field goals from 55 and 37 yards. Then, from field goal formation in the third quarter, Bahr faked a kick and holder Dick Barvinchak, a former quarterback, rolled to his right and threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to tight end Dave Stutts. The Lions still needed a 10-yard touchdown pass from John Andress to Stutts in the fourth quarter to clinch the win. Bahr's 55-yarder was his third from that distance and gave him six 50-yarders in his career, tying an NCAA record.

PENN STATE 31, ARMY 0

Penn State lost five fumbles, but was still too strong for Army, winning 31-0 before a capacity crowd at Beaver Stadium. The Lions' first touchdown came when tight end Mickey Shuler recovered a Woody Petchel fumble in the end zone. Petchel scored twice on short runs and his backup, Steve Geise, ran 11 yards for the final score. Chris Bahr kicked his 15th field goal of the season in the first quarter to give the Lions a 3-0 lead. Petchel finished with a career-high 139 yards rushing.

The largest crowd ever to watch a Terrapins' home game — 58,973 — saw Maryland rally from a 12-0 first-quarter deficit and nearly pull out the game in the final seconds. Maryland kicker Mike Sochko missed a 42-yard field goal with 15 seconds left.

NORTH CAROLINA STATE 15, PENN STATE 14

History repeated itself as North Carolina State upset Penn State, 15-14, at Beaver Stadium. For the second year in a row, Penn State was coming off an important and close win over Maryland, but the Wolfpack's defense and kicking game were decisive. The Lions jumped off to a 14-0 lead in the first half on runs by fullback Larry Suhey and quarterback John Andress. Ted Brown's two touchdowns brought the Wolfpack within two, 14-12, and Jay Sherrill's 24-yard field goal on the third play of the fourth quarter was the winning score. Johnny Evans' 81-yard quick kick to the Penn State 10 backed the Lions into a hole, but Penn State marched down the field in the last minute. Chris Bahr missed a 46-yard field goal attempt with eight seconds remaining in the game.

PENN STATE 7, PITTSBURGH 6

Steve Geise's 28-yard run with 6:42 remaining in the game lifted the Lions to a 7-6 victory over Pitt at Three Rivers Stadium and before a national television audience. The winning margin was provided by Tom Odell's block of Carson Long's extra point after Elliott Walker's 37-yard touchdown run for Pitt in the second quarter. The Lion offense didn't cross the 50-yard line under its own power until late in the third quarter. After Chris Bahr's extra point gave Penn State the lead, the Panthers threatened three more times, but Long missed field goals from 51, 45 and 23 yards. The victory gave the Lions their fifth consecutive Lambert Trophy, symbolic of the Eastern football championship.

SUGAR BOWL

ALABAMA 13, PENN STATE 6

Dec. 31, 1975 — New Orleans, Louisiana — 75,212

Penn State and Alabama met in the first Sugar Bowl game played in the spectacular Louisiana Superdome.

The game was typical of the Nittany Lions' 1975 season, featuring outstanding defense and kicking. Alabama managed the only touchdown of the game, a 14-yard run by Mike Stock in the third quarter, to pull out a 13-6 victory.

Chris Bahr, the Lions' record-setting placekicker, accounted for all of Penn State's scoring with a 42-yard field goal in the third period and a 37-yarder early in the final quarter. Alabama specialist Danny Ridgeway countered Bahr's boots with field goals of 25 and 28 yards and the conversion after Stock's touchdown.

Alabama quarterback Richard Todd was a runaway winner in the balloting for the game's Most Valuable Player. The Tide captain completed 10 of his 12 passes for 210 yards, including a 55-yarder that set up Stock's go-ahead touchdown in the third quarter.

The Crimson Tide took the lead in the first quarter on Ridgeway's 25-yard field goal and the score was still 3-0 at halftime.

Bahr's 42-yard field goal with 4:33 left in the third quarter tied the game at 3-3, but Alabama came right back with an 80-yard drive for what proved to be the winning touchdown. Senior halfback Tom Odell had been injured in the first quarter and Todd hit a 55-yard pass to Ozzie Newsome over his replacement to set up Stock's score.

Bahr's second field goal of the game cut the Alabama margin to 10-6 with 11:19 to play, but Ridgeway got the Tide up by seven again with his 28-yard kick with 3:19 left.

The game wasn't decided until Alabama stopped the Lions on a fourth-and-one try with 1:19 to play and Crimson Tide coach "Bear" Bryant breathed a sigh of relief.

"I think we beat a great football team," Bryant said. "I told Coach Paterno after the game that I would hate to prepare for him every week because I don't know if you could prepare for Penn State in a week."

Paterno naturally was disappointed in the result, but not in the effort his team had given.

"This wasn't a great team," the Lion coach noted, "but it might have played closer to its potential than any team we had. It was a great group in that way."

The Coaches

JOE PATERNO

Head Football Coach
The Pennsylvania State University

"Suddenly you stop wondering why this man wins. Paterno has class . . ."
—D. Keith Mano
Sports Illustrated, March 15, 1976

Joe Paterno became Penn State's 14th head football coach in 1966, taking over the job after 16 years as an assistant coach under Rip Engle.

In the last decade, Paterno has risen to the top of his profession. His winning percentage is the best of any active coach with at least five years at a major college and the fourth best in the history of intercollegiate football.

Paterno's 94 wins, 18 losses and a tie give him a winning percentage of .836 in his ten years as head coach. His teams have been ranked in the Top Ten nationally and gone to major bowl games eight of the last nine years. Three of his teams have had perfect records, including wins in the Orange Bowl. He was named national coach of the year in 1968 and has been Eastern coach of the year four times.

His accomplishments have prompted numerous lucrative offers from professional teams. Listening to Paterno explain why he has rejected those pro jobs gives an insight into the man.

"I realized that I wouldn't be happy just being a football coach in which winning and losing was everything.

"I like living in a college community where I can be around people who can talk about things besides football.

"I've had a dream that Penn State could be number one in everything. I feel I can make a contribution toward some of those goals. The challenge of that has helped keep me here."

Paterno is a member of the National Board of Directors of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, was the state chairman of the American Cancer Society in 1973 and served as state chairman of the Easter Seal Society in 1974.

He was a member of Governor Milton Shapp's Commission on Basic Education and has been active in recent years in fund-raising efforts for the Boy Scouts of America.

He also is a member of the National Advisory Council for the "No Greater Love" program, an organization which provides nationwide programs to benefit hospitalized veterans and the children of servicemen killed or missing in Southeast Asia.

Paterno has come quite a distance since 1949 when he was a skinny-legged quarterback at Brown whose play caused the late Stanley Woodward to write:

"He can't run and he can't pass. All he can do is think and win."

At Brown, he quarterbacked two of Engle's best teams (7-2 in '48 and 8-1 in '49) and also played varsity basketball.

Paterno, however, almost missed his calling following his graduation from Brown in 1950 with a degree in English literature.

"I had planned a career in law, or perhaps even politics," Paterno explains, "until Rip told me he had taken the Penn State job and asked if I would go along and coach the offensive backs."

That was 26 years ago.

"I grew to love Penn State so much that after two or three years with Rip I dreamed about nothing other than becoming its head coach some day. It's the only job I ever really wanted in coaching."

The chance to be head coach came in 1966 when Paterno replaced the retiring Engle. During 16 years as Engle's assistant he achieved national recognition for his development of quarterbacks such as All-American Richie Lucas, Milt Plum, Al Jacks, Tony Rados, Dick Hoak, Galen Hall and Pete Liske.

Paterno senses his place in Penn State's football history.

"We are all part of a great tradition. We have a great responsibility to carry on this tradition."

Paterno, who brings to coaching qualities of intellect and integrity, likes to talk about football at Penn State as the "Grand Experiment."

This experiment is Paterno's dream of being able to build great football teams without making concessions in vital areas of academic quality.

"We want our players to enjoy football," he says. "We want them to enjoy college. We want them to learn about art and literature and music and all the other things college has to offer. College should be a great time. It is the only time a person is really free. We don't want them just tied to a football program."

And that's the way Paterno recruits. There are no wild promises or empty guarantees. There is no red-shirting or lowering of admission standards. There is no football dorm. It's made clear early in a player's career that education and academic scholarship are paramount.

Born in Brooklyn Dec. 21, 1926, Paterno attended Brooklyn Preparatory School (Class of '45), where he played in the same backfield with his brother George, former coach at Kings Point. Joe and George also teamed up at Brown.

Joe married the former Suzanne Pohland of Latrobe, Pa., in 1962. She's a Penn State graduate, Class of 1962. They have two daughters, Diane Lynne (born 4-7-63) and Mary Kathryn (b. 1-13-65) and three sons, David (b. 7-1-66), Joseph Jr. (b. 10-21-68) and George Scott (b. 11-1-72).

Assistant Head Coach

Penn State '36
Begins 31st Season on Staff

Jim O'Hora, an assistant on the Penn State football staff for 30 years, is the Lions' assistant head coach.

O'Hora has been a line coach for most of his time at Penn State under four head coaches — Bob Higgins, Joe Bedenk, Rip Engle and Paterno. Many of his former interior linemen earned all-star recognition and several are stars in the pro ranks. Among the players he has coached are All-Americans Glenn Ressler, Mike Reid, Randy Crowder and Mike Hartenstine.

A native of Dunmore, Pa., O'Hora first came to Penn State as a freshman in 1932. He played center under Higgins, earning varsity letters in 1933, 1934 and 1935.

He began his coaching career immediately after graduation in 1936, returning to his alma mater to earn his master's degree in physical education and serve as a graduate assistant with the freshman football team.

He became head football and baseball coach at Roaring Spring (Pa.) High School in 1937. He moved to Mahanoy Township (Pa.) High School in 1939, serving as head football, baseball and basketball coach.

His coaching career was interrupted by the Second World War. He served in the Navy from 1942 until 1945, commanding a landing force ship in the Luzon campaign as a lieutenant.

He returned to Mahanoy Township for one year before joining the Penn State staff in 1946.

STUDY SHOWS 94 PER CENT GRADUATION RATE

Shortly after he became head football coach, Joe Paterno began talking about football at Penn State as the "Grand Experiment."

This experiment is Paterno's goal of building great football teams without making concessions in vital areas of academic quality.

His success at building great football teams is well-established. Paterno's 10-year record of 94-18-1 gives him the best winning percentage (.836) among the nation's major college coaches with at least five years as a head coach. The Nittany Lions have been ranked in the Top Ten nationally and have gone to a major bowl game eight of the last nine years.

Less well-known, but considered more important by Paterno, has been the percentage of Penn State football players who have earned their degrees.

"After 10 years, I felt it was time to take a close look at how we have been doing," the Lion coach says. "I was pleased to find that 94 per cent of our players who have worked toward a degree have graduated."

A total of 250 student-athletes on grants-in-aid have gone through the program in Paterno's 10-year regime and 235 of those men have earned their degrees.

Paterno credits Penn State's "normal progress rule" and selective recruiting as two of the major factors in the Lions' success rate.

The "normal progress rule" requires a student-athlete to be within 10 credits of normal progress towards a degree throughout his college career to remain eligible to play in any sport. For example, normal progress toward a degree would be 99 credits at the end of the junior year. Any athlete with fewer than 89 credits would not be able to compete.

Then there is the Penn State approach to recruiting:

"We try to recruit people who belong at Penn State," Paterno says. "We feel that people who want to excel as football players carry the same drive for excellence into the classroom and into their other activities. We go after people who want to make something of themselves."

That approach seems to be working. Many of the 235 graduates in the last 10 years have gone on to graduate school. Seven players—Joe Bellas '66, John Runnells '67, Bob Holuba '71, Dave Joyner '72, Bruce Bannon '73, Mark Markovich '74 and Jack Baoirunos '75—were awarded National Collegiate Athletic Association Postgraduate Scholarships.

Two of the scholarship winners—Bannon and Baoirunos—received even higher recognition from the NCAA. Both were recipients of the Top Five Student-Athlete Award during their senior years.

Every varsity athlete at every NCAA institution is eligible for the Top Five Student-Athlete Award each year based on "athletic ability and achievement, character, leadership, campus and off-campus activities and academic achievement."

Only 20 men have been recognized as members of the Top Five Student-Athlete group since the award was instituted in 1973 and two of them have been Penn Staters.

Clearly, the "Grand Experiment" is out of the experimental stage.

LIONS ENROLLED IN VARIED CURRICULUMS

Members of Penn State's 1976 football team are pursuing degrees in 32 different academic areas. The composite academic average of the football lettermen has been consistently higher than the all-University male average.

NCAA POSTGRADUATE SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

Seven Penn State football players have earned Postgraduate Scholarships from the National Collegiate Athletic Association since the program started in 1964.

To qualify for the award, each recipient must have earned at least a "B" accumulative average (3.0 on Penn State's 4.0 grade point scale) and also must have performed with distinction in his sport, thus epitomizing the term "student-athlete."

Of the 821 member schools of the NCAA, few if any can claim as many NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship winners as Penn State. A total of nine Penn Staters, including the seven football players, have been scholarship recipients.

The recipients and their graduating class, are: Joe Bellas, football, 1966; John Runnells, football, 1967; Steve Cohen, gymnastics, 1967; Bob Holuba, football, 1971; Tom Dunn, gymnastics, 1971; Dave Joyner, football, 1972; Bruce Bannon, football, 1973; Mark Markovich, football, 1974; and Jack Baiorunos, football, 1975.

Two of the scholarship winners — Bannon and Baiorunos — received even higher recognition from the NCAA, receiving a Top Five Student-Athlete Award.

Only 20 men have been recognized as winners of the Top Five Student-Athlete Award since it was initiated four years ago.

The Top Five Student-Athletes are selected for their "athletic ability and achievement, character, leadership, campus and off-campus activities and academic achievement."

HEISMAN TROPHY

John Cappelletti, tailback on Penn State's unbeaten and untied 1973 football team, is the only Nittany Lion ever to win the Heisman Trophy.

Cappelletti, now a running back with the Los Angeles Rams, received the coveted award and dedicated it to his younger brother Joey, a leukemia victim, in a moving acceptance speech in December, 1973.

The Heisman Memorial Trophy is awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York City to "the outstanding intercollegiate football player in the United States."

Originally the D.A.C. Trophy, it was renamed after the death of John W. Heisman, then Director of Athletics at the Downtown Athletic Club, in October, 1936. Heisman had been a top-ranking coach at Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Rice and Washington and Jefferson, among other colleges.

Five other Penn State players have finished in the top six in Heisman Trophy balloting. In 1959, quarterback Rich Lucas finished second to Louisiana State back Billy Cannon; tight end Ted Kwalick was fourth in the 1968 vote behind winner O. J. Simpson, Southern California tailback; Mike Reid, a defensive tackle, finished fifth behind Oklahoma tailback Steve Owens in 1969; tailback Lydell Mitchell was fifth in 1971 with Auburn quarterback Pat Sullivan winning; and quarterback John Hufnagel was sixth behind Nebraska flanker Johnny Rodgers in 1972.

MAXWELL AWARD

Four Penn State players have been honored as recipients of the Maxwell Award.

John Cappelletti, tailback on the 1973 Penn State team, is the most recent Nittany Lion recipient. He was preceded by Rich Lucas, quarterback, 1959; Glenn Ressler, center and guard, 1964; and Mike Reid, defensive tackle, 1969.

The Maxwell Award is named in honor of Robert W. "Tiny" Maxwell, who was an All-American guard at Chicago and Swarthmore, an outstanding professional player and a famous coach in addition to being a newspaper city editor and sportswriter in the 37 years he lived prior to his death in an automobile accident.

RED WORRELL AWARD

Tight end Mickey Shuler of Enola, Pa., was named the 1976 winner of the Red Worrell Award during halftime of the annual Blue-White Game in May.

Shuler, a 6-4, 212-pound junior, is the second consecutive tight end to win the award. Dave Stutts, a senior this season, won the 1975 award.

"Mickey is a good tight end," Penn State coach Joe Paterno said after the presentation of the award. "He's always been a fine receiver. Now he's improved his blocking and he's much smoother running his lanes."

The award is given annually "for exemplary conduct, loyalty, interest, attitude and improvement" during spring practice. The award is named in honor of 1957 freshman fullback Robert T. (Red) Worrell, who was electrocuted at his home in Denbo in December, 1957.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The list of all-time Penn State football lettermen includes every varsity letter-winner since the sport was officially started at Penn State in 1887.

The Nittany Lions have had 36 players earn four football letters, five men win five letters and one player achieve the unusual distinction of being a six-time letterman. The longevity award goes to L. R. Scholl, who won varsity letters in 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900 and 1901.

The list of five-time lettermen includes Charles M. Atherton (1890-94), H. P. Dowler (1889-93), R. A. "Bob" Higgins (1914-19), C. C. Hildebrand (1887-91) and J. S. Rumble (1896-1900).

The Pennsylvania State University

The Pennsylvania State University was chartered in 1855 as one of the pioneer institutions in a beginning national movement to offer higher education to all classes of society.

By 1862, when Abraham Lincoln signed the land grant act "to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes," Penn State had already awarded its first Bachelor of Scientific Agriculture degrees. In 1863, it was designated as the land grant college of Pennsylvania by the state legislature.

From humble beginnings, the University has grown to be the 11th largest in the nation with a resident education enrollment of more than 68,000 and a faculty of 3,000.

The University, which has awarded more than 200,000 degrees, offers bachelor's degrees in 148 separate fields. Graduate programs are available in 127 fields.

A distinctive feature of Penn State is a system of 19 commonwealth campuses, strategically located throughout Pennsylvania to be within commuting range of residents in nearly every area of the State. Eighteen of the 19 branch campuses offer the first two years of baccalaureate degree work and all except Allentown and Capitol Campus offer terminal two-year associate degree programs in one or more areas of concentrated instruction to prepare graduates for specialized assignments in business and industry or give students a basic two-year education. The majority of the two-year students are enrolled in the 10 engineering technology majors.

Behrend College at Erie, in addition to two years of associate degree and baccalaureate degree programs, offers four years of work leading to the baccalaureate degree in certain majors and some graduate work at the master's degree level. Master's degree programs are offered at the King of Prussia graduate center. Nearly two-thirds of the 12,200 entering freshmen begin their studies at branch campuses and transfer, usually at the end of the second year, to the University Park campus or Capitol Campus.

The College of Medicine, located at The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center in Hershey, was established in 1964 with a $50,000,000 allocation by the M. S. Hershey Foundation. The first class was graduated in 1971.

The continuing education programs of the University annually reach as many as 131,000 persons in nearly 300 communities of the state and present a wide variety of instructional offerings, including credit classes, unit courses, informal short courses, conferences and seminars. The Cooperative Extension Services maintain offices in each of the 67 counties of Pennsylvania and county agents during the past year provided assistance to over 1,000,000 persons. Meetings, farm and home visits, correspondence courses, 4-H Club supervision, and informational pamphlets, news releases, radio and television programs also are a part of their work.

The physical plant of the University comprises 15,977 acres and land, buildings and equipment are valued at more than $519,000,000.

The University operates on an annual budget that exceeds $286 million. Thirty-five per cent of it comes from the state, including contracts with state departments; 12 per cent from the federal government; 21 per cent from tuition; 17 per cent from auxiliary earnings, and 15 per cent from miscellaneous sources.

Dr. John W. Oswald

President, The Pennsylvania State University

Dr. John W. Oswald is Penn State's 13th president. He assumed the office of the presidency on July 1, 1970.

Dr. Oswald came to Penn State from the University of California where he had served as executive vice president since 1968. He was president of the University of Kentucky from 1963 to 1968.

Born in Minneapolis, Minn., Dr. Oswald was graduated in 1938 from DePauw University with a bachelor of arts degree in botany and a minor in history.

As an undergraduate at DePauw, he was that rare combination of Phi Beta Kappa student and star athlete, having served as captain of the football team as well as a letterman in basketball and track. He was named to Sports Illustrated's Silver Anniversary football team of 1962.

He received his Ph.D. in plant pathology from the University of California in 1942.

After receiving his doctorate, Dr. Oswald entered the Navy. He served until 1946 and had more than 50 combat missions as a PT boat captain and divisional commander in the Mediterranean, earning the Navy Commendation Medal.

Dr. Oswald returned to the University of California after his release from the Navy. He was assistant professor of plant pathology and plant pathologist in the Agricultural Experimental Station at California's Davis campus.

In 1953, Dr. Oswald received a Fulbright grant to the Agricultural University of The Netherlands. He returned to the Berkeley campus in 1954 as chairman of the department of plant pathology. He was promoted to full professor in 1957 and began concurrent duties as administrative assistant to the chancellor of the Berkeley campus.

Dr. Oswald was promoted to the office of the president of the state-wide University of California system in 1958. He served as academic assistant to the president, assistant vice president, vice president and executive assistant. He was named vice president for administration in 1962.

His selection as president of the University of Kentucky came in 1963. In his five years there, he moved the university into new areas, strengthened its faculty and supervised the largest development program in the school's history. One of his principal contributions was the establishment of 15 two-year campuses.

Dr. Oswald resigned the University of Kentucky presidency in 1968 to take the position of executive vice president in the University of California system of 100,000 students and almost 10,000 faculty members on nine campuses.

In addition to his on-campus administrative work, Dr. Oswald has participated in the work of many national educational groups and in community activities where he has resided.

In February, 1974, Dr. Oswald headed a delegation of 12 Penn State faculty members on a three-week study tour of the Peoples Republic of China. Major cities visited were Canton, Nanking, Peking, Shanghai, Soochow and Wusih.

His professional and honorary memberships include Sigma Xi and the American Phytopathological Society. He was a consultant to the National Science Foundation from 1960 to 1967. He holds honorary degrees from DePauw University; University of Louisville; Centre College; the University of California, Davis; Temple University, and Juniata College.

Dr. Oswald is married to the former Rosanel Owen of Birmingham, Ala. They have two daughters, Elizabeth and Nancy, and a son, John, Jr.

Robert J. Scannell

Dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation

Dr. Robert J. Scannell succeeded Ernest B. McCoy as dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and director of the Sports Research Institute on July 1, 1970. He had been associate dean since 1967.

At Penn State, the position of dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation is distinctive in that it combines responsibility for academic programming, intramural and intercollegiate athletic activities and student recreation in one administrative unit.

As administrator of the Sports Research Institute, Dr. Scannell directs a unique program which utilizes coaches, medical personnel and researchers from many disciplines throughout the University in both practical and theoretical study of sports in contemporary society. The Institute was established in early 1969.

The dean is a graduate of Notre Dame, where he received a bachelor of science degree, magna cum laude, in physical education and earned three varsity letters in football. He was awarded the master of science and doctor of philosophy degrees in physical education by Penn State.

Dr. Scannell joined the Penn State faculty in 1961, following three years at John Adams High School, South Bend, Ind., where he was chairman of the physical education department, teacher, and football and swimming coach.

In 1963, he was appointed Dean McCoy's representative for Commonwealth Campus programs. In this capacity, he was responsible for the development of instructional health and physical education and intramural and intercollegiate athletic programs throughout the Commonwealth Campus system of the University. In 1967 he was named associate dean for undergraduate resident instruction with responsibility for the academic programming of the College.

Dr. Scannell, whose teaching and research interests focus on motor skill learning and program administration, has published articles in professional journals and presented papers at meetings of the American and Pennsylvania State Associations for Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, of which he is a member. He also has served as editor of the Pennsylvania Journal of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Dean Scannell also devotes considerable time to University-wide faculty and administrative responsibilities, serving as vice chairman (1967-68) and chairman (1968-69) of the University Senate, as a member of various Senate and Administration committees and as chairman of the Council of Academic Deans of the University.

He is married to the former Regina Feehan of Kansas City, Kansas. They have four children.

Edward M. Czekaj

Director of Athletics

Ed Czekaj (pronounced CHECK-eye) is in his eighth year as Penn State's athletic director, but his service to the University goes back much further than that.

He has been in athletic administration for 24 years, and most of that experience was gained at Penn State under Ernest B. McCoy, the man who recommended that Czekaj move up to the top position in 1969.

As athletic director, Czekaj succeeded McCoy, dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation and director of athletics since 1952. McCoy continued to serve as dean of the College of Health and Physical Education and director of the Sports Research Institute until June 30, 1970.

Czekaj, 53 years old and a 1948 Penn State graduate, joined the Penn State staff in 1953 as assistant graduate manager of athletics. In 1955 he became ticket manager and assistant business manager and in 1957 he was promoted to business manager. He was named associate athletic director July 1, 1967.

He was on the athletic staff at The Johns Hopkins University from 1948 until 1951 and was with the Marine Corps in Korea in 1951 and 1952, with the rank of captain.

As an undergraduate, he played varsity football and basketball and was an end on the Nittany Lions' unbeaten 1947 team which played in the Cotton Bowl, Jan. 1, 1948. He received a master of education degree from Penn State in 1954.

In January of 1969 he was named "College Athletic Business Manager of the Year" at the College Athletic Business Managers Association meeting in Los Angeles.

On the national level, he is a member of the National Collegiate Athletic Association committee on reorganization and the NCAA legislative committee. He also is a member of the National Association of College Athletic Directors, serving on the publications committee of that organization. Active on the NCAA Lacrosse Rules and Tournament Committee, he has served as vice president, member of the long-range planning committee and chairman of the statistics committee. He is a member of the U.S. Gymnastics Federation Council as well as a member of a special NCAA committee to investigate additional support for championship events which incur deficits. He has been inducted into the Helms Hall of Fame Foundation for business managers.

He has been the meet director for NCAA gymnastics and wrestling championships and in 1968 was cited by the NCAA wrestling rules committee for his outstanding direction of the national wrestling tournament. He also has directed Olympic trials in gymnastics and wrestling.

On the sectional level, he was vice president of the Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC), chairman of the long range planning committee, a member of the finance committee, member of the Executive Council, president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Gymnastics League and president of the Eastern Intercollegiate Wrestling Association prior to Penn State's withdrawal from the ECAC.

A native of Mt. Pleasant, Pa., and a 1941 graduate of Ramsay High School where he played football and basketball, Czekaj is married to the former Virginia Gallup (Penn State '48) of Port Allegany. They have two children.

James I. Tarman

Associate Director of Athletics
Assistant to the Dean

Jim Tarman was named associate director of athletics and assistant to the dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation on July 1, 1973.

His primary areas of athletic responsibility deal with public relations and public affairs, development and fund raising, radio and television, alumni relations and delegated staff and policy responsibilities relating to the overall intercollegiate program.

His responsibilties also include producing and managing the Penn State Football Radio Network on which he serves as the color announcer for the game broadcasts. He is also familiar to Penn State football fans as the co-host of "TV Quarterbacks," the University's state-wide weekly television show during the season.

As assistant to the dean he performs a secondary (to his athletic responsibilities) role in the office of the dean of the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation (of which the intercollegiate department is a part), working with matters of public and athletic relations as they impact on the College as a whole, and on other matters as assigned by Dean Robert Scannell.

From 1970 until the promotion to his present position, Tarman was assistant to the athletic director and director of athletic public relations. Before that he was Penn State's sports information director for 12 years.

Before coming to Penn State in 1958, he was sports information director at Princeton University, and prior to that was public relations director at Gettysburg College, his alma mater.

Richard J. Lucas

Business Manager of Athletics

Rich Lucas became business manager of athletics at Penn State in 1972. He had served as assistant business manager since 1965.

An All-American quarterback at Penn State in 1959, Lucas played with several American Football League teams and served in the Army after graduation. He was with the University's continuing education services for two years before joining the athletic department staff.

Sever J. (Tor) Toretti

Assistant Athletic Director

Sever J. Toretti is assistant director of athletics in charge of recruiting at Penn State. He holds the academic rank of an associate professor in the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Torreti is concerned chiefly with serving as a liaison between the University and secondary schools and as a consultant to prospective student-athletes. He has helped to influence many outstanding athletes to enroll at Penn State and many have gained national recognition.

He was an assistant football coach from 1949 to March 1, 1963, when he assumed his current duties.

John M. Morris

Sports Information Director

John Morris, a 1963 graduate of Penn State, is in his seventh year on the athletic staff at his alma mater.

He returned to Penn State in 1970 after serving six years as sports information director at the University of Delaware. Prior to that he had served brief stints as news editor of The Centre Daily Times and golf editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun.

Morris is a former president of the Eastern College Athletic Conference Sports Information Directors Association (ECAC-SIDA) and has served as a member of the board of directors of the College Sports Information Directors Association (CoSIDA). He has won five national awards for his publications at Delaware and Penn State.

David L. Baker

Assistant Sports Information Director

Dave Baker is in his third year as assistant to Penn State sports information director John Morris.

Baker had been assistant news editor of The Centre Daily Times, State College, Pa., after his graduation from Penn State in 1973. A native of State College, he had worked in the sports information office as a student assistant. He also served as a statistician for the Penn State Football Radio Network and was an editorial contributor to the Beaver Stadium Pictorial, Penn State's football game program.

Chuck Medlar

Penn State '46

Head Trainer

Chuck Medlar, head trainer for all Penn State athletic teams, is recognized as one of the nation's foremost athletic trainers.

He was head trainer of the United States team in the 1968 Olympic Games in Mexico City after serving on the training staff of the U.S. team for the 1964 Olympics in Tokyo.

A former director of the board of the National Athletic Trainers Association (NATA), he is presently chairman of that group's International Games Committee, representing the organization on the U.S. Olympic Committee. He has served on numerous other NATA committees.

In 1971 the Lion trainer received two of the top honors of his profession. He was given a 25-year service award by NATA and was cited by the Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame "for noteworthy achievement in athletic training."

Medlar also is one of the nation's most successful baseball coaches. In 14 years as head coach, he has directed the Lions to 223 wins against just 105 defeats and four ties. Nine of his teams — 1963, 1967, 1970, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1974, 1975 and 1976 — have earned berths in the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs. The 1963 and 1973 teams won the district playoffs and competed in the College World Series in Omaha, Neb.

A 1946 graduate of Penn State, Medlar attended Allentown (Pa.) High School where he earned letters in football, basketball and baseball. Following a year at Pennington (N.J.) Prep, he entered Penn State in 1938 and competed in football, basketball and baseball as a tackle, center and pitcher, respectively.

He left college in 1941 to play professional baseball with Beaumont (Texas League) as property of the Detroit Tigers and in 1942 moved to Buffalo of the International League.

He entered the Navy in December, 1942, serving overseas at Pearl Harbor and Midway as a chief petty officer. Discharged in 1946, he rejoined Buffalo only to have his professional career ended because of a sore arm. He returned to Penn State in September, 1946, as assistant to trainer Jack Hulme and to complete his studies.

When Hulme died that same year, Medlar who had assisted him in 1940 after a knee injury forced him out of football, succeeded him as trainer and in 1948 was appointed to the physical education faculty.

In 1950, 1951, 1952 and 1953 he was selected as trainer for the North team in the Blue-Gray games.

PENN STATE RADIO NETWORK

Fran Fisher

Penn State's 57-station football radio network is one of the largest independent networks in the country. Fifty stations in Pennsylvania and seven in Maryland, New York and West Virginia will carry the Nittany Lions' game this fall.

Fran Fisher is in his 11th year with the network and seventh as the play-by-play announcer. He previously served four years as the color announcer before taking over the play-by-play duties in 1970.

Jim Tarman, associate athletic director at Penn State, is the color announcer for the games. In addition to his on-the-air duties, Tarman serves as executive producer of the network for the athletic department.

The Fisher-Tarman team is a familiar one to Penn State football fans. They are co-hosts of "TV Quarterbacks," Penn State's weeky state-wide television show during the football season.

On July 1, Fisher assumed a full-time position in the department of athletics with basic responsibilities in the office of associate director of athletics and the general athletic public relations office. He previously was special projects director for the University's Division of Broadcasting.

Fisher's new duties will be in the areas of radio, television and film services; handling the various technical, commercial and promotional arrangements; and the relationships of those activities for both the intercollegiate athletics program and the College of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

Before assuming his position with the Division of Broadcasting, Fisher was with station WKVA in Lewistown for eight years. He also has worked at station WHJB in Greensburg and station WQED-TV in Pittsburgh. FUTURE SCHEDULES HAVE INTERSECTIONAL FLAVOR

Penn State's future football schedules have a definite intersectional flavor.

The Nittany Lions have added opponents from the Southeast, Southwest, Atlantic Coast and Big Eight Conferences to their schedules for the next five years.

"We have tried to get the best opponents we could," says Penn State athletic director Ed Czekaj, the man in charge of scheduling for the Lions. "We think we have very attractive schedules coming up."

Additions to the schedule for the next four years are Duke, Houston, Missouri, Nebraska, Southern Methodist, Texas A & M, Texas Christian and Utah State.

MEMO TO PRESS-RADIO-TV

The material in this brochure was compiled for your convenience in covering Penn State's 1976 football season. Contents of this booklet and changes in plans and personnel will be supplemented before and during the season by the Sports Information Office.

Should you desire additional information, services, or material, contact John Morris or Dave Baker at 203 Recreation Building, The Pennsylvania State University, University Park, Pa. 16802. Telephone 814-865-1757.

When making requests for working press credentials, allow time for mailing. For late requests, tickets will be left with attendant at press gate directly behind west stands of Beaver Stadium. If telecopier or telephone service is required, please make necessary arrangements through Sports Comm or the telephone office.

WORKING PRESS: Admittance to the Beaver Stadium press box will be limited to the working press only. Requests for credentials should be made in writing to the Sports Information Office. Working space in the press box is at a premium, so in some cases admittance is limited to those papers actually covering for Sunday editions.

RADIO: There are six permanent radio booths in Beaver Stadium and facilities to make several additional temporary ones when necessary. Two permanent booths always will be occupied by the Penn State Football Radio Network and the Penn State Football Television Network. Another of the remaining permanent booths will be assigned to the visiting team's official station. For comfort, announcing crews should be limited to four persons plus one spotter for each team. Opponent stations should indicate when requesting credentials whether or not they will require a spotter for the Penn State team.

TELEVISION: Penn State's "live" television appearances are designated by the NCAA Television Committee and facilities will be assigned in accordance with NCAA approval.

PHOTOGRAPHERS: Press photographers will be assigned press box or sideline credentials or both, depending on requirements. Field passes are normally limited to daily newspaper, wire service and magazine photographers. Field photographers must not stand in front of spectators or pass in front of players' benches and are not permitted to enter the stands except with special permission. The "press box photo" pass allows the photographer to work on the top of the press box, or in any of the enclosed areas of the third deck of the press box specifically designated for photographers. The same rules apply to newsreel photographers. Camera crews making the coaching films for the opponent school will be limited to three persons.
